THE TYRONE ELECTION PETITION.

Mr. Commissioner Phelps yesterday sat in Omagh Courthouse to hear explanations from certain people who were alleged to have been guilty of personation and attempted personation, as a preliminary to making a report to the High Court of Justice in Ireland.

Constable M'Dermott served service of summonses on several persons who failed to appear.

Robert Cochrane, Colvahillion, who was alleged to have impersonated his dead father, appeared, and told the Court that he was informed that his name had been sent into the authorities for a vote, and at the election he was sworn and voted, as he believed bona fide that his name was on the register.

The Commissioner said that he regarded this case as a bona fide mistake, but every member of the public who took an oath or this kind should first of all make inquiries as to whether he was the proper person, and should be absolutely certain on that point. Cochrane had acted in a very straightforward way, and he absolved him from any criminal intention in the matter, but it was a lesson which other people should heed.

AGRICULTURAL CONDITIONS IN IRELAND.

OUTLOOK FOR THE HARVEST.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE'S REPORT.

The agricultural outlook at 1st October is not so depressing as the severity of the spring and summer months would suggest. The warm, dry weather during the greater part of September, even though the temperature was very low on several nights, made harvesting easy and improved the prospects of the root crops.

The grain crops, except in the later and more mountainous districts, have nearly all been stacked. The broken nature of the early harvest induced many farmers to gather corn crops before they were ready, and in some counties there has been much trouble from heating as a consequence. Except in the earlier parts of the country, there has been little threshing so far done, but reports up to the present indicate that grain yields will be low and the quality of the sample inferior.

Barley is credited with being the best of the grain crops, though the sample will be deficient in colour and plumpness.

Winter wheat was stacked in good order, and yields may be fair where the crop was early sown; the little threshing done points to the grain being shrunken and of poor milling quality. Some early ploughing of stubble for next year's crop has been already done in County Armagh.

Oats, as a rule, is a light crop: it succeeded best on low land; fields after a manured crop were disappointing. Some little threshing has been done. Opening prices quoted are: 28s. per barrel black oats, 28s. per barrel white oats (Co. Kilkenny); 15s. per cwt. for black and 16s. per cwt. for white oats (Co. Cork); and 2s. 5d. to 2s. 2d. per stone, with a downward tendency in Co. Derry. The small patches of grass grown have returned an average yield, but the grain is small.

Flax has nearly all been stacked; only a very small quantity has been cleaned as yet; the few returns available are disappointing, though in some counties, as the straw bulked well, the crop is expected to be average in yield.

POTATOES, TURNIPS, AND MANGELS.

Potatoes are variable, but yields will be lower than last year; some varieties, such as Arran Chief and Shamrock, have cropped well on the drier soils where planting was done early and the crop was sprayed in good time. Among the newer varieties, Majestic and Edzell Blue are stated to have given specially satisfactory results. The old Champion has turned out very disappointing, and a considerable proportion of this variety in the western counties consists of small and diseased tubers. Lateness of planting, unfavourable weather up to and during the spraying period, and the sudden and early termination to growth caused by the widespread blight (Black Frost) have been served to reduce yields. Some excellent returns are, however, reported from farms in the northern counties. Prices are as high as 14s. per cwt. in midland towns, and even 16s. per cwt. in some of the western counties. On the other hand, farmers in the important potato-selling districts in the North seem to be receiving only £6 per ton.

Turnips and Mangels suffered from the severity of the spring and the cold wet summer which succeeded. Re-sowing of turnips was necessary on many farms, and mangels did not get sufficient heat in the early stages of growth. The continuously wet conditions did not allow the crops to be worked as in other seasons, and it was exceptionally impossible to keep down weeds. Both crops improved considerably during September, but most fields are patchy, and yields are likely to be below average. A warm October would greatly improve prospects, and on rich, dry lands the bulk may nearly approach average.

THE HAY CROP.

The hay crop was over the average in bulk, and the quality fair. On the whole, it was secured with surprisingly little injury, despite the broken weather of July. Cutting and saving were later and more protracted than in other years, and many first-crop hay fields suffered in quality through adverse weather delaying cutting until they were over-ripe. In many counties there is a large quantity of old meadow hay still in the fields and yet to be carried. Unless this is done shortly, there will be a considerable loss in the sides and bottoms of the cocks. In the North prices ranged from £6 per ton for first-crop hay, and similar rates are being paid in County Carlow and other southern counties. In County Limerick prices for first-crop hay were only £4 10s., and the price for good meadow hay was as low as £3 to £3 10s.

Pastures gave good grazing throughout the season, and were improved in feeding quality by the genial weather of September. Many growers were of opinion that grass, though abundant, was overdrawn from the continued rains, and had not the same nutritive quality as in other years. Pastures in dry situations and with good natural drainage gave better grazing than those on the heavier and more retentive soils, which suffered from the excessive rains. The moisture of August induced a strong growth of aftergrass in old meadows, which, when cleared of hay, these afforded excellent grazing to stock during late September.

HEALTHY LIVE STOCK.

All classes of live stock are healthy and thriving well. The only trouble reported was husk, or hoose, among calves. This was more widespread than usual owing to the constant dampness of pastures. Two-and-a-half year-old stores of fair forward condition are in strong demand and fetching high prices. They are selling at from £35 to £40, and one-and-a-half year old cattle from £20 to £30. Springing cows and heifers also selling briskly. The former are extra scarce and dear, in some cases fetching up to £70 at midland fairs. This class of stock in the western counties is estimated to be 25 per cent. dearer than last year. Calves of good quality from six to nine months old are fetching £10 to £12 each in County Waterford, and in West Limerick as high as £13 to £14 each. Milk yields are reported on the whole to show little, if any, falling off. In County Armagh, however, some shrinkage in the milk supply has been noticeable, and this has been reflected in a lower price for young calves, which were recently sold for £2 each, and even less in some centres. The demand for breeding ewes was very strong this autumn. Prices ranged from £5 10s. to £6 10s. each in County Carlow, and from £4 10s. to £5 10s. was freely paid in County Kildare for Wicklow-Cheviot crosses. Lambs sold well of late, fetching as much as 68 per head in some counties. Fat pigs are bringing £10 10s. to £11 10s. per cwt. dead weight. Young pigs (ten to eleven weeks old) are selling at £3 to £4, and even £5 10s., each, though of late there has been a drop in the price of bonhams owing to the prospects of a poor potato crop. This is estimated to be from £1 to £2 10s. per head in County Limerick. Horses are in good demand at fairs, and the trade is lifeless. Troopers in County Wexford are being bought at from £25 to £35. Only polo ponies and made hunters, it is stated, are meeting with anything like a satisfactory sale.

Turf was late in being cut and saved, and in some counties, such as Leitrim, the bulk of the crop has yet to be carted. A dry October is needed in order to secure this indispensable supply of fuel for the winter.

SPORTING NEWS.

BALDOYLE MEETING—THIS DAY.

A splendid card will be submitted at the popular Metropolitan track, which, thanks to the sandy nature of the soil, has not been seriously affected by the recent heavy rains, and, judging by the number of horses under orders, good-sized fields will be seen out. The Metropolitan Steeplechase always proves a strong attraction, and to-day's race should furnish a fine contest, for the winner of which I shall depend on the top weight.

SIR HUON.

Selections for the other events are as follow:—

Malahide Plate—Liandola.
Seaside Plate—Sunny Bird.
Maiden Plate—Orby Last.
October Plate—Glenstella.
Strand Plate—Glencorrig or Jonquil.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

THE PORT STRIKE AT DUNDALK.—The port strike at Dundalk has been settled, and yesterday four steamers belonging to the Dundalk and Newry Steam Packet Company sailed for Liverpool with full cargoes.

STEAM TRADERS COMPENSATED.—County Court Judge Boyd, K.C., has awarded compensation to a number of Poyntz traders whose premises were burned during the outbreak by the Irregulars.

THE LOSTING AT LISBURN.—Yesterday Mr. W. J. Hands, R.M., and Mr. H. Jones, R.M., heard a number of cases arising out of the recent disturbances, and as a result Henry Magee, James Lowry, Wm. Hooks, Arthur Kidd, and George Lowry were ordered to be detained in custody.

WATER RATE INCREASED.—At a meeting of the Meath Water Commissioners it was decided to increase the domestic water rate from 1s 4d to 1s 6d in the £. Engineer Bolton's report showed that the receipts for the year amounted to £2,333 in rates, per agreement, at 80 per cent. for water for 1925.

IRISH INDUSTRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE.—The Maringar Action Committee yesterday adopted a resolution, which will be forwarded to the Provisional Government, asking that the Irish Free State Government should not interfere with the Irish Industries Act, which has been in force for the past 20 years, and which has been of great benefit to the country. The Committee also protested against the proposed abolition of the Irish Industries Commissioner, and the transfer of his duties to the Department of Industry and Commerce.

A THRIVING IRISH INDUSTRY.—Referring to the North Tipperary Agricultural Show, the importance of the poultry industry, and the possibilities of its development, Mr. Hayes, Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, said that the value of eggs exported from Ireland was £2,915,478 in 1913, and £7,487,582. The value of poultry and eggs exported in 1913 was £3,054,381, and in 1919 £2,750,823. The value of eggs exported in 1919 was £8,371,090.

A TRIBUTE TO TIPPERARY LADY.—Mr. Patrick Dillon, Nenagh, presided at the meeting of the Nenagh Guardians on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Pattison, wife of Captain Pattison, the organising director of the Shannon Electric Supply Works at Ardnacrusha, and reported injuries to which she had suffered almost immediately after completion of the accident. The accident was caused by her motor-cycle skidding on the wet road. Mrs. Pattison was attended by Dr. Hogan, Nenagh, who found that she had received a fracture of the left leg and other injuries. Mrs. Pattison, who is a daughter of Mr. Dillon, was removed to her home in Nenagh, where she is progressing favourably. The Board passed a resolution of sympathy with Mrs. Pattison, and directed that a letter of condolence be sent to her husband.

COPPERS RELIEVED BY BELFAST BANK.—During the past fortnight an extraordinary amount of copper has been noticed in Navan, and the local police force became suspicious. An application from the local branch of the Belfast Bank, located in the immediate district of Navan, was made to the police consigning a large quantity of copper. The "consignment" was forwarded to the bank. No dealings with the bank were known to the police, and the transport of the copper was unknown to them. The police were pleased at the opportunity of examining the copper for evidence.

NEW CHURCH TO
OUR LADY OF LOURDES,
LR GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A Temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the present Structure is inadequate. For the temporary appeals to the Catholics of Dublin are strongly for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by Ireland's Coal Crisis.

Nothing but a miracle now can prevent a coal strike. Indeed, in several districts it has begun already. The majority of the miners' delegates left London yesterday for their various constituencies. The railwaymen will hold a meeting to-day in order to consider their best course of action in the crisis which has arisen, and the transport workers will meet on Monday. Intervention, therefore, by either of these bodies must come too late to stop the strike, and, once it starts, the difficulties in the way of settlement will increase with every hour. Work will cease in every coalfield in Great Britain to-day, and Ireland will be wise to devote some careful thought to the situation in which she will find herself before many days have passed. There are people in Ireland who believe that they can afford to ignore such a sordid business as a coal strike; but it is not likely to ignore them. From the point of view of practical economics Ireland is wedded to England, for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, for ever and a day; and the laws of economics do not recognise divorce. Every time an Irishman sits down to his breakfast, every time he buys a newspaper, rides in a tram car, lights his pipe, or visits a kinematograph entertainment he acknowledges his debt to British coal. The economic yoke may be very unpleasant; but it is very real, and in times like these reality is the thing that counts. Every hardship which falls on England during the period of the strike, therefore, will fall on Ireland, too. In fact, England will be at an advantage, because she will be virtually free to concentrate all her vast energy in combating the strike, whereas we in Ireland are inflicted already with a dozen other disabilities, every one of which is striving for a strangle-hold upon our nation's being.

On the not unreasonable assumption that the strike will last for a fortnight three great blows will be dealt at Irish trade. In the first place, supplies of coal from Great Britain will cease. A Declaration of Emergency was issued yesterday by the Secretary for Mines under the Coal Emergency Order (1920), and all clearances from Northern and Welsh ports have been stopped. Ireland's coal stocks are miserably inadequate, and our local authorities have done little or nothing to conserve or ration the supplies which are in hand. In the second place, shipping to and from Irish ports will be restricted. Great Britain will be forced to economise in bunkers, and only indispensable services will be maintained after the first week of the strike. Consequently our exporters will be unable to dispose of their live-stock and other produce, while our importers will have much difficulty in getting supplies of essential commodities from the other side. Finally, the Irish railways will suffer. They are suffering already as a result of the insensate munition dispute, but without coal they will not be able to run at all. Naturally, the cities will be hit hardest, and the problems of Dublin's supplies will become acute almost immediately. Furthermore, large numbers of men and women will be thrown out of work. Tram services will be curtailed, gas and electricity will be restricted, prices will soar to fantastic heights. Everybody will suffer alike. Northern industrialist and Southern farmer, Connemara peasant and Dublin clubman—all depend for something on the treasures of the mine, and none can hold himself aloof from the inexorable calamity which a coal strike carries in its train. The time, then, has come when Ireland must cry halt to political bickerings and prepare herself for a sharp lesson in elementary economics.

Ever since the first threat of a coal strike in July the Government and the people of England have been preparing for this emergency. Everything possible has been done to safeguard the people's food supply. The country has been divided into fourteen areas, under specially appointed commissioners; and every division, for the purpose of rations, will be treated as a unit. The conservation of coal stocks has been reduced to a science. Household consumption has been limited to one hundredweight per week offensive of July and August, 1916, when the Ulster Division and other Irish regiments won immortal fame at a most terrible cost. The cemetery contains 304 graves, of which 75 are filled by Irish soldiers. Forty-four graves—by far the largest total for any one regiment—belong to the Royal Irish Rifles. The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers have 17 graves, the Royal Irish Fusiliers 8, and the Royal Irish Regiment 5. The register contains particulars of the occupant of every grave. These have been compiled from information furnished by the military record offices and by the next-of-kin. They are astonishingly complete and represent a really noble work of conscientious and reverent research. The 304 entries in the register are in alphabetical order. One of them, in reviving the memory of a gallant soldier, will serve to illustrate the whole:—

"GUINEY, Pte. Stanley, 16537, C. Coy., 13th Bn. Royal Irish Rifles. Died of wounds 29th June, 1916. Age 28. Son of John and Isabella Guiney, of Dromore, Co. Down, Ireland. Plot 2. Row A. Grave 13."

Occasionally some further detail is recorded, as in the case of another Irish rifleman:—"The inscription on the original wooden cross, erected by his rifleman:—"The inscription on the original wooden cross, erected by his comrades, read:

"Soldier, rest, thy warfare o'er;
Sleep the sleep that knows no breaking;
Dream of fighting fields no more;
Day of toil and night of waking."

Only two graves out of the 304 are recorded in the register under the pathetically laconic title, "Unknown British soldier." We call attention to this moving Book of the Dead because we feel that the light which it throws on the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission will bring comfort to many thousands of bereaved hearts. When the great record is fully compiled every identified British soldier who fell in France or Italy, Gallipoli or Mesopotamia, Palestine or South-West Africa, will find a place in it—not as a mere name, but in the setting of the country that sent him forth and of the home-love on which his parting soul relied. The complete roll of those who fell in the great war will be an achievement unique in history since wars began. It must be an adjunct to every national memorial and ought to be made accessible in all public libraries. The registers can be had at the cost of production, from the Secretary of the Imperial War Graves Commission, 33 Baker street, London.

Crime in England.

The annual report of the English Prison Commissioners, which has just been issued, is an encouraging document. As was to have been expected, the continuous fall in the number of convictions which marked the war period was arrested last year, but, despite demobilisation, the relaxation of liquor control, and the abolition of other restrictions, the reaction was not particularly marked. The total number of persons sent to prison was only 39,787, as compared with 28,753 in the preceding year. The average for the five years 1909-1914 was 158,782, so that England's criminal population is not more than one-fourth of what it was six years ago. In the opinion of the Commissioners, the increase in crime recorded during the year was of a temporary nature. The convicted persons included 6,461 ex-soldiers, and 411 of these men had never been prosecuted before. Many of them were earning good wages when they broke the law, and their offences were not due to criminal instincts, but to the fact that for four years "the normal restraints of conduct had been banished by the stress of war." During the last ten years the number of convicts under twenty-one years of age has decreased by 91 per cent., while the number of convicts between twenty-one and thirty years of age has fallen from 1,033 to 190. These figures suggest that the Borstal system has been a remarkable success.

Travellers' Troubles.

Travellers will rejoice to learn that a genuine effort will be made next week to remove the absurd and vexatious difficulties from which they suffer. The League of Nations has come to their aid. A special conference will be held at Barcelona to discuss the regulation of international transit. It will investigate the difficulties created by the impossibility of obtaining through tickets even on some of the main international lines, the passport question, and the problem of Customs examinations. The best of remedying the through ticket difficulty is pressing if international travel is to regain something of its former activity. At present, if a traveller wants to go from Dublin to Vienna, he must buy a ticket to London, another from London to Ostend, a third from Ostend to Basel, a fourth from Kehl to Salzburg, and a fifth from Salzburg to the Austrian capital. He cannot tell at the beginning exactly what the journey will cost, and the constant re-booking does not make for ease or comfort of travel. The passport problem is perhaps, of even greater urgency. The French Government has made an effort to simplify the system under which its nationals can obtain passports, but hitherto the British Foreign Office has refused obstinately to make any concessions in its rules. If the League of Nations can devise a simple system for international use, it will do something to justify its existence.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The coal crisis is now coming to a climax, and it is quite possible that to-morrow will see a strike begun. Mr. Stephen Walsh, when asked to-day if there was a hope of peace, replied: "No; the bridge is broken, the boats are burned, and we are now right in it." He is right. The miners have broken the bridge, the leaders have burned the boats, and they are all in the trouble, whatever may be the issue. Until the strike is an actual fact, however, there still remains some hope. It is evident that the Miners' Executive hoped to the last that the Prime Minister might find a way out of the difficulty for them, and, when this hope was dispelled by his letter, they did not know what to do. It is possible that the Triple Alliance or other unions likely to be affected will now take a hand in the game.

The feeling in Government circles with regard to the strike is one of pessimism, and it is thought that there is now very little hope of a strike being averted. As a result, all Government energy is being devoted to coping with the necessities of the country and meeting the food pressure that actual conditions will quickly bring about. At the Ministry of Transport there is very great activity, and schemes prepared by the best organising brains in the country are ready to be put into operation at once. It is to be noted that preparations are being made to feed the striking areas just the same as the districts that will suffer most by the strike. It is obvious, however, that, if the strike is prolonged, this arrangement may not be possible. In the last resort the dictum, "He that will not work, neither shall he eat," would necessarily have to be acted upon.

The Prime Minister has expressed his intention of remaining in London over the week-end in case his services may be useful, and he will be willing to meet anybody likely to be representative of the parties interested who can help to a solution of the trouble.

A suggestion put forward to-day that the Government should meet the crisis by giving the miners the two shillings more a day that they demand, and trusting to the men to earn it, with a revision at the end of three months if the output did not rise to the circumstances, is regarded as nothing less than an invitation to the Government to give way to the men on their own terms. No guarantee of increased production could be secured, and the extra two shillings a day could not be withdrawn later on without more trouble.

The miners' leaders declare that the latest situation is due entirely to the hotheads among the rank-and-file. During the past few days leaders who have been sent down into the country to explain the datum line scheme to the men have been shouted down in some places. This may, of course, be perfectly true, but many of these extremists are only logically following out the gospel expounded to them for years by the same leaders who now expect them to give way to their advice. The vague wording of the datum line ballot paper in itself almost suggested repudiation, for the extremists told the men their version of the scheme long before the responsible leaders issued a statement.

The Ministry of Food will begin its activities again with the opening of a strike. All foodstuffs are likely to be most carefully regulated, and many of the war-time restrictions will come into operation again. Rationing of food in the restaurants is predicted, with the prohibition of cakes, buns, and light pastries. If the Government is wise, it will see that luxuries, wherever possible, are dealt with in a sensible manner. The total consumption of luxury foods is not very great really, but, if continued, it is likely to cause dissatisfaction. It is impossible to make some people understand that, if one family consumes a chicken, there is more plain meat left for somebody else.

Railway traffic is to go on as usual for two or three days in order that people may return to their homes, if away. Then will come a considerable reduction on all lines, though the suburban traffic will be kept running as long as possible. Workmen's trains are also to be kept running with the necessary food and goods trains. Every service will, of course, be reduced as coal becomes scarcer. With the cutting down of the railway services a number of railwaymen will be thrown out of work, a fact fully recognised on the railways, and one that does not appeal to the possible sufferers.

The coal trouble, with all its devastating influences on trade and industry, has now been in progress for more than three months. It was on July 7th that the miners first demanded from the Government a rise of 2s. per day and a reduction of 14s. 2d. per ton to the consumer. Ever since that day the Miners' Federation has been working steadily, with the present result.

Mr. Asquith's plan for Dominion Home Rule does not seem to have impressed anybody in Ireland, and it certainly does not commend itself to people on this side, with the exception of his own partisans. Even some of these are not altogether happy about his proposal to allow the Irish Government to have an Army and Navy of its own. The Westminster Gazette lays stress upon his declaration that the Dominion Navies exist only for definite purposes of local and Imperial defence on terms agreed upon between the Imperial and Dominion Governments, among them being the provision that in time of war the Dominion Fleets are to be transferred bodily to the control of the British Empire. It observes that "these naval conditions, like all other relations between Great Britain and the Dominions, are the result of free and voluntary negotiation in which the parties are seeking how best to help each other while preserving their autonomy. If that result can be reached with Ireland, there is no reason to depart from the Dominion model in her case or to keep her out of what in the case of the other Dominions is a mutual co-operation for naval and military defence. If it cannot be reached, the whole proposal falls to the ground."

Every day seems to reveal to us one or more secrets of the war. To-day we learn how the historic treasures of Westminster Abbey were safeguarded during the raids. They were placed in the massive groined undercroft of the Abbey Chapter House, which few but the most privileged visitors are permitted to see. The Coronation Chair, the great sword of King Edward carried in the Scottish wars, the vizor and shield of Henry V., the portrait of King Richard II., and many other treasures were placed in the croft for many months.

The rather extraordinary attacks on Mr. Lloyd George which are appearing in some of the French newspapers have created some soreness at Downing street, and the Foreign Office is becoming quite alarmed at the charges so recklessly made that the Prime Minister is trying to frustrate France in everything she does. The writer of "A Londoner's Diary" in the Evening Standard says that one of the most prominent men in the Foreign Office has gone to Paris with the endeavour to stop a continuation of the mischief.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD APPOINTMENTS.

The London Gazette announces that, to give effect to the recent re-arrangement of duties in the Royal Household, the King has made the following appointments:—

Sir Frederick Ponsonby, Treasurer to the King and Keeper of the Privy Purse; Sir Douglas Dawson, Private Chamberlain; Hon. George Arthur Crichton, Comptroller of the Ceremonial Department; Mr. Charles Hubert Montgomery, Vice-Marshal of the Diplomatic Corps; Sir John Henry Chapple, Assistant Treasurer to the King and Secretary of the Privy Purse.

A Moscow telegram, dated October 14th, says that the Soviet Government has issued a decree declaring that the Russian Republic is ready to enter into peace negotiations with Poland.

A Moscow telegram, dated October 14th, says that the Soviet Government has issued a decree declaring that the Russian Republic is ready to enter into peace negotiations with Poland.

Addressing the Munitions Commission, says a Tokio telegram, Mr. Hara, Premier, said that the War Office was spending 2,500,000 yen in fortifying the islands of Oshima and Machijojima in Tokio Bay, in repairing the old fortifications, and in perfecting new rifles and machine-guns.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE THREATENED STRIKE.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, says:—A coal strike, whatever its intention, would, in present conditions, be an act of coercion needlessly committed against the community as a whole by a misguided section. We do not deny the right of the coal-miners to strike under any conditions. Coal-mining is a key industry, on which the welfare of many others depends; but, in the last resort, the right to strike, even in this industry, is indefeasible—but only in the last resort. There is no right to strike for coal-miners until every means of peaceful settlement has been tried, and failed. Every means has not been tried, let alone failed, and, therefore, a strike at this juncture must inevitably be regarded as an attempt to coerce not only the Government, but the nation. Such an attempt must needs be withstood, and withstood most firmly, by those who have striven hardest to preserve a perfectly fair and judicial neutrality. It is right that this should be said at once without equivocation. We still hope, though against hope, that matters may not be driven to this point. In his letter the Prime Minister indicated that his alternative offer of an impartial tribunal was still open, and it is most keenly to be regretted that the miners have ignored it. They could have had—still can have, if they will—any tribunal they like, and any guarantees of impartiality they may fancy. Nor is this the only chance. We made the suggestion yesterday, that the output of 240 million tons might, by stretching a point in the miners' favour, be taken, as already achieved, so that the miners should be assured of an immediate increase of 1s. whatever happens. There is, again, the suggestion made by Lord Bledisloe in our columns yesterday for combining a system of profit-sharing in the district or the individual colliery with increased remuneration, based on the national output, thus reconciling the national unity of coal-workers, to which their leaders attach so much importance, with the stimulus to strong local effort. It would again not strain ingenuity to devise other methods for combining unfairness in a system of payment by results. The most satisfactory feature of the earlier course of the negotiations was that they got rid of the political element in the men's demands, adds The Times, and gave us what was, in any case, superficially a purely economic issue. But the danger exists that this political element may intrude itself again and make mischief, in a conflict the power of the extremist always grows. It behoves us, therefore, to avoid panic and violent recrimination in maintaining our united national front, so as to give no handle to the revolutionary, who will certainly be active. We trust we may rely on the good sense of the vast majority amongst the miners to resist any attempt to transfer the struggle from the economic to the political field. We trust also that the Government will preserve an equable temper, and seek no political advantage from a struggle. If it must come, the contest should be restricted in every possible way, and all provocative agent on one side or the other, official or unofficial, should be regarded as the worst enemy of his country.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

"Scot" writes to The Times to-day the following letter:—The suggestion that it may be possible for the Prince of Wales to marry a lady of these islands recalls the very happy match made by his ancestor, King James I. of Scotland. While a prisoner in England he saw and fell in love with the Earl of Somerset's daughter. From his captivity he composed "The King's Quair" in her honour, and when free once more he hastened to marry the girl he had seen in the garden. She was crowned at Scone with him in May, 1424. If King James was a prisoner at Windsor in the power of his enemies, so is the Prince in the grip of foreign tradition. Let us hope that the tradition may now prove no more formidable a barrier to the course of true love than did the walls of Windsor.

IRELAND AND THE COMING SESSION.

Sir Maurice Dockrell, M.P., is among a number of private members whose views on the work of the new Parliamentary session are given in The Times to-day. He says:—Ireland will, no doubt, be much in evidence during the coming session. I am dead against the extinction of Ireland, and if the Government of Ireland Bill becomes law it will, in my opinion, be found by Statute to have put together in peace Northern and Southern Ireland. Ulster could, I believe, be coaxed, but not coerced, and her unincreasable maximum of Irish autonomy would be probably found coincident with the British minimum of strategic safety. Personally, I would prefer the presence of Ulster in an All-Ireland Parliament to any paper safeguards for the protection of minorities.

ROAD TRANSPORT VEHICLES.

The quality of the commercial motor vehicles at the exhibition opened yesterday by Sir Eric Geddes shows gratifying progress, remarks The Times editorially to-day. An industry arrested in its infancy before the war has passed through a grim test of efficiency, and seems to have surmounted the present difficulties of production. Steam, petrol, and electric engines have been improved in range, flexibility, and ratio of output to consumption. This country can absorb usefully an output even greater than is at present contemplated. Doubtless motor transport will continue to be most convenient for trunk routes, but there is a very large bulk of door-to-door traffic that can be carried most conveniently and economically on the roads. The use of roads as feeders to the railways can be increased almost indefinitely, especially if transferable containers be developed.

NEW GERMAN SECRET MONOPLANE.

The Zeppelin Company is about to begin trials in Germany with an aeroplane for which it is claimed that in design and performance it will out-distance any machine in the world, states the Aeronautical Correspondent of The Times to-day. This is a tractor monoplane, which has been built in secret, and only the most general details regarding it have been allowed to leak out. It is built throughout of duralumin, has a span of 90 to 100 feet, and a chord of 15 feet. It is fitted with four engines, and has a capacity for 20 passengers. The wings of the monoplane are hollow, in them the four engines, each of 260 horse-power—Mercedes or Maybach—are fixed, and the wings are constructed so that while the monoplane is in flight a mechanic may crawl through them and attend to the engines. There are only two struts in the monoplane, and these extend laterally from the under carriage to the under side of the wings.

THE SPA CIGAR BILL.

Who is to pay for the cigars smoked at Spa, the 80,000 cigars which the delegates, experts, and staffs enjoyed, "enveloping themselves," as the Liberté puts it, "to reflect, to dream, to sleep in the bluish clouds of Havanas?" asks the Paris Correspondent of The Times in a message dated yesterday. Belgium, it appears, refuses to foot the bill, and wishes to pass it on to the League of Nations, and the League, everlastingly embarrassed by its want of funds, declines to accept responsibility. Who is to pay?

SHOTS AT A MOTOR CAR.

Alarm was caused at Mullingar on Thursday night by shots which were fired at a motor car on the road adjoining the town. It appears that the military and police on patrol had halted a number of cars, and one of them refused to answer the challenge, and sped away. The patrols fired after the disappearing car, from which it is said shots were returned. No injuries are reported.

INCIDENTS IN THE PROVINCES.

Neither magistrates nor litigants attended the Carrickmacross Petty Sessions Court yesterday.

Policemen examined the motor permits of all drivers coming through Athlone yesterday from Dublin and the West of Ireland.

The Limerick Corporation, at their meeting on Thursday night, decided to ask Dáil Eireann to send an auditor to audit the Council's accounts.

Charles McGroarti, a farmer, of Largy, Co. Donegal, and his son, John, who were arrested by the police and military last week, have been released.

The police and military raided the licensed premises of Mrs. E. O'Neill, Donegal, wife of the late ex-Head Constable John O'Neill, but an exhaustive search proved fruitless.

The office of telegraph linesmen at Cahirciveen was broken into yesterday and the workmen's tools and telephone apparatus were taken by the raiders, whose object apparently was to prevent the iron repairing the telegraph wires.

Some mornings ago three masked men raided the house of a popular farmer near Clogheen, County Tipperary. Two covered the family with revolvers, while the third took a girl of 18 to an adjoining room, and cut off portion of her hair.

At a District Courtmartial in Athlone yesterday Michael Colomb, a farmer's son, Mount Temple, South Westmeath, was charged with being in possession of Sinn Fein and Irish Volunteer cards and a Dáil Eireann proclamation relating to land distribution.

MINERS' STRIKE TO-DAY.

PREPARATIONS TO MEET THE CRISIS.

RAILWAYMEN'S ATTITUDE.

PUBLIC WARNED TO LIMIT CONSUMPTION.

INDUSTRIES THREATENED.

WIDESPREAD UNEMPLOYMENT FORESHADOWED.

The country is faced with a coal strike, with all its incalculable consequences.

Notices to cease work, already twice suspended, become operative to-day. In many collieries men ceased work yesterday.

There was some apprehension yesterday that the railwaymen would join in a sympathetic strike with the miners, but this is not credited in authoritative circles. The railwaymen's action will, however, be decided to-day, and the transport workers and other trade bodies will meet on Monday.

It is hoped that suggestions for settlement will be immediately forthcoming from some of the trades not directly concerned.

The miners' delegate conference, after considering the position for two hours yesterday, decided to throw down the gauntlet. The Prime Minister's letter of the previous night was placed before the conference, and in the result it was resolved that:—

"In view of the unsatisfactory reply of the Government, the districts should be informed that the only course was for work to cease on Saturday."

At the collieries in Sunderland district the miners lost no time in giving effect to this decision, many of them ceasing work during the afternoon.

Mr. Smillie, who presided at yesterday's conference, made, it is understood, a fighting speech that appealed for unity. The delegates received that, no doubt, clearance would be granted. The loading of supplies on hand for British vessels proceeded, but the loading of foreign vessels which have part cargoes stopped, and it is understood that they may be directed to any port in case of emergency. Most works in South Wales have stores of coal sufficient to last from a fortnight to a month, and gas and electricity supplies on a reduced basis may be maintained even longer. The railways are fairly well stocked with coal, and there would be sufficient bunker supplies to vessels with general cargoes for possibly two months. But much depends on whether the railways can be kept running. A strong section of the South Wales railwaymen favours taking action in support of the miners. One of the first industries of South Wales to suffer by the coal strike will be the tinplate trade. Tinplate works generally depend on supplies from the collieries in their immediate neighbourhood, and if the coal strike will lay most of them idle in a few days.

Dr. Macnamara visited Cardiff yesterday, and, speaking at a luncheon at the Mansion House, said that he hoped the dark threatening industrial clouds would pass away. If a strike occurred, the task of finding employment for ex-Service men would become very difficult; in fact, he believed that this department would have to put up the shutters.

Fifty vessels are being held up at Swansea, in consequence of the coal restriction orders. All the coal trips were idle at Swansea yesterday afternoon through the prohibition of foreign coal shipments. Local works are completing arrangements to close down, none having any stocks of coal. Ample supplies of foodstuffs are insured in any event throughout South Wales.

Nottinghamshire—Although the strike does not become generally operative until Monday, it began at many pits in Nottingham yesterday, where only five days a week are ordinarily worked. By to-day mining operations throughout the county will be at a complete standstill, rendering about 44,000 men and boys idle. It was with apparent indifference that the struggle was entered upon. With the present investments of the Nottinghamshire Association totalling £328,000, no difficulty is anticipated in maintaining the struggle for several weeks. The unconcern with which the boys worked yesterday was indicative of the general idea which appeared to prevail among the younger hands that they were in for an acceptable holiday.

Gloucestershire.—In Bristol the railways and public utility services are said to be well supplied with coal, but merchants' stocks are insufficient to enable supplies of large works

THOUGHTS AND THEORIES.

Boomley, boomley, boomley, boom,
A roaring, raging final knell
From the mouth of the Cuiver
To the Mountains of the Moon.
Death is an emphasis—
Positive and terrible.
Full-toned and terrible.
[Shrilly, and with heavily-accented metre.]
Boom, steal the pigmies!
Boom, kill the Arabs!
Boom, kill the white men,
Boom, kill, kill, kill!
Listen to the yell of London's ghost!
[Like the wind in the chimney.]
Barning in Hell for the wicked host!
Hear how the demons chuckle-and-yell,
Cutting blackskins off, down in Hell!
Listen to the creepy proclamation!
Blown through the lairs of the forest nation,
Blown through the wires and hid of them,
Blown past the marsh where the butterflies play—
He called Wisa, yes!
Mumbo-Jumbo will hoo-doo you.
Mumbo-Jumbo will hoo-doo you.
Mumbo-Jumbo-will hoo-doo you.
Mumbo-Jumbo, God of the Congo,
And all the Congo!
[All the O sounds very golden. Heavy accents on the heavy syllables. Light accents very light.
Last line whispered.]

If you want to read the rest get "The Daniel Jazz and Other Poems," by Vachell Lindsay (G. Bell and Sons, 6s. 6d. net). There is plenty of other good stuff in the volume, all of it new and exhilarating, some of it beautiful, and perhaps even great.

AUTUMN.

Yesterday we were basking in the belated sunshine of a summer that came in like a March lion and went out like an April lamb. To-day autumn is in the air. The dead leaves are fluttering about the highways, and the parks and gardens are still full of colour, but now the colours of decay preponderate, turmoil and gold and faded purple. While dead heading and brown leaves are no longer hidden by the still unfolding green of the late-comers to the concourse of beauty. If men had their way, they would probably keep their gardens at the eventful meeting point of fruition and decay, precisely as they cling to the trappings of decayed societies, the manners and politics of their grandfathers, which they always deem superior to their own. For the wisdom that dominates the world is still in great part the wisdom of the old, who, remembering, perhaps, the advice given by Napoleon to his generals, ever take two looks backward to one forward; in whom the inheritance of habit has bred a positive horror of the flamboyant enterprise of youth, never realising that it is young wisdom still unhampered by the bony prison house that it will soon enough enhance how much more important it is to be flamboyant than to be wise.

Nature, supremely young, supremely artistic, builds up her miracles of beauty slowly, but knows better than to pause over-long when perfection has been attained. Like the unseen giant hands which, according to the scientific playhouses and dentifrices in letters of light upon the velvet-black skies of great cities, only to efface them instantaneously and write again, so Nature is slow to complete, swift to destroy. Nevertheless, her exits are as undramatic as her entrances. She does not herald the coming of her seasons with the blowing of fifes and drums. Her banners of red and gold, her ceremonial carpets of azure and white, are brought forth without ostentation. Only her friends and lovers know when she is making the new magic. A gleam of scarlet in the sedges, the fluttering of restless wings, a tarnished air about the aerial splendour of the golden rod—these and such simple matters are her advance notices to the initiated.

To us, most of us, at any rate, appeal must be more material and physical before we sit up and take notice. She will presently remind us that we need a new umbrella, for should be looking out our heavy underwear. And we will. This is no sudden thing. But Nature does nothing abruptly to those who understand her ways. So it is with life. Yesterday it was summer. To-day we gathered no flowers, saying, "Let me first reap such and such a mark. There is plenty of time." And to-morrow, if it is autumn, and there are no flowers left, only the dead leaves fluttering upon the highways of discontent.

Again we say, "How sudden!" but the fairest with dutiful eye, solement bell hangs about the neck of pussy-footed time, but did she sound it would we but look up from our task, stands the warning Sign, even as it used to stare at us from the faces of the grandfather clocks:

Time flies.
Man dies.

To die is the only event that is rendered insignificant by its certainty. To die is a great old, unless one has first been young. is a tragedy. For the soul is like certain plants that in the season of growth close from the sweet earth the store of nourishment that will presently establish it securely in its place among the stations.

Father Dominic adds the following footnote:—I took above down from the dictation of the Lord Mayor. At most him a great effort, and considerable time. It was dictated by phrases, with long pauses between. I urged him to give up the job, and said I would write. He said the least I could do after his confession was to keep it of respect and esteem was to give the message himself in full. The dictation is troubling him again very much, and to-day his sight is very much blurred. The Lord Mayor desires to say that he is very pleased that the attempt to fire the City Hall had proved abortive.

INCIDENT AT THE FORD WORKS.

Cork Correspondent telegraphs:—The last night the banners of Cork City was suspended at noon yesterday for an hour while the workers attended Masses for Lord Mayor MacSwiney and the hunger-strikers in Cork. At the Ford Works in the morning notice was issued that any man who left work would incur dismissal. Most of the eleven hundred workers, however, left, but when they returned the flag was again suspended.

Work was not restarted. Mr. J. J. Walsh, M.P., went to the works and impressed on the men that they must subject themselves to discipline.

The manager of the works then addressed the men, and said that he would re-open the works, but not until Monday morning. He had previously intended to shut down entirely until he could employ a new staff.

Mr. Edward Grace, manager of Ford's, writing to the Press, says:—It is only on the guarantee that such indiscipline will not occur again that the firm agreed to take back the staff on Monday.

DRILLING IN DUBLIN MOUNTAINS.

ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF BOMBS AND AMMUNITION.

COURTS-MARTIAL SENTENCES.

The result of the District Courts-martial which assembled at Dublin on the 25th September for the trial of forty-three civilians, charged with contravening Order No. 17 of the Military Authority prohibiting assemblies within the County of Dublin, is as follows:—

Thomas Ryan, 52 Dominick-st, Dublin, who was also charged with having in his possession ammunition, was convicted on both charges, and sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for twelve months and £50 fine, or, in default of payment, to a further term of six months' imprisonment with hard labour.

Patrick Mackey, who was charged with possession of a bomb, was convicted on both charges, and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment with hard labour. The evidence showed that on the 10th September, 1920, a raiding patrol surprised a party of men, including all the accused, engaged in drilling in the Dublin Hills, about a quarter of an hour's walk from St. Columba's College. The other accused, with the exception of D. C. Parker, who was acquitted, were convicted of contravening the above-mentioned Order, and sentenced to terms of imprisonment. Their names are as follows:—

In each case, with the exception of Hugh Larkin, Kevin McGann, Frank Kinsella, Henry W. Sheridan, and John Grimes, hard labour is imposed.

Richard Tobin, James Butler, John Butler, John Campion, Jeremiah Campion, all of Clonmacnoise, and Michael Robinson, of Grane, were charged before a District Court-martial held at Cork on the 28th September, 1920, with riot and assault, and for assault with intent to kill. The evidence showed that on the 15th August, 1920, a team of the Rector of Clonmacnoise, Co. Kilkenny, was returning from church, he was held up by a party of men of the Rectory, regarding the Irish race. He was told that if was required to search him and his Rectory on the authority of the Irish Republic. They got hold of him and proceeded to search him. A severe struggle ensued. One of the assailants, Jeremiah or John Butler, drew a revolver, and, shouting "Hands up," fired a shot. Two bull dogs belonging to the witness appeared on the scene, and one of the men levelled a revolver at them, of the dogs. The witness, to save the dog, agreed to give up the shot gun. This he did. The party then left. All the accused made statements denying the charges.

John Campion and Jeremiah Campion were acquitted and released.

The other accused were convicted of riot and assault. John Butler was sentenced to imprisonment for two years, and Richard Tobin, James Butler, and Michael Robinson to imprisonment for eighteen months. Hard labour was imposed in all cases.

Patrick Reddin, of Lisdoonvarna, County Clare, was tried before a District Court-martial held at Limerick on 24th September, 1920, on offences against Regulation 42 A.A. of the R.O.I.R. The accused was represented by Mr. Hugh O'Flaherty, solicitor. Accordingly to the evidence for the prosecution, the accused entered into conversation with soldiers outside Keane's bakehouse at Lisdoonvarna, offering them one shilling's round of ammunition and £5 for a revolver.

The accused, who pleaded not guilty, was acquitted and released.

COMPENSATION FOR RELATIVES OF MURDERED POLICEMEN.

At Skibbereen Quarter Sessions yesterday, before Judge Hynes, K.C., Mrs. King, Innishbeg, Clifden (Co. Galway), mother of Constable King, killed near Glengarriffe on June 16th, and her sons John and Owen King, applied for £2,000 compensation.

Mrs. Hooper was awarded £400 compensation in deceased's mother, and £200 each to the other applicants, remarking that the case was the worst he had yet heard.

Mrs. Beale, widow of Constable Beale, killed in ambush at Clonee, between Bailey and Darrus on June 21st, was awarded £4,000 compensation for personal injuries, and £1,000 for each of the three daughters.

At Londonderry Recorder's Court yesterday, His Honour Judge Osborne awarded £5,400 to Mrs. Montgomery, in respect of the death of her husband, Detective Sergeant Denis Mornoey, Chief on the Londonderry Criminal Department, who was murdered while taking part in a police baton charge against a mob in the city on the night of the 15th May.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MAJOR G. O. S. SMYTH, D.S.O.

The funeral of Major G. O. S. Smyth, D.S.O., M.C., R.F.A., killed during the raid in Drumcondra, took place from the residence of his uncle, Mr. N. D. Ferguson, Clonsilla, on Banbridge, yesterday. The remains were accorded full military honours, a guard being drawn from the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, which, with a body of police, in charge of District Inspector Sedley, took part in the obsequies. The route to the cemetery was lined with thousands of sympathetic spectators, the funeral procession being the largest seen in the district for a considerable time. The bands of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry and the Royal Irish Constabulary preceded the cortège, playing impressive funeral marches. Following the remains came the immediate relatives, and behind the representatives of public bodies and institutions and all sections of the general public. Blinds in all private houses and business establishments were drawn. At the cemetery the Service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hussell, C.F., Larne, and the Right Rev. Dr. Grierson, Bishop of Down and Connor and Dromore. A volley was fired over the grave and the "Last Post" was sounded. There were numerous floral tributes.

THE LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

A FAREWELL LETTER.

The Deputy Lord Mayor yesterday morning received the following telegram:—Belfast, 11.42.—No change.—Father Dominic.

It was learned yesterday morning that there was still a considerable danger in the condition of the Lord Mayor-elect.

The Deputy Lord Mayor of Cork has received a farewell letter, dated 12th inst., from Lord Mayor MacSwiney, through his chaplain, to the colleagues of the Cork Corporation, District Sheriff, and municipal employés, which stated, it is understood, that he had just said his last Mass for a day forward every day must become more and more critical, he wished to convey to his fellow-townsmen on the Municipal Council his full confidence and friendship, lest he should not see them again. He praised that the harmony and good-fellowship that existed between all of them would continue, and that success would continue to be theirs in the discharge of their municipal duties and in all their schemes for municipal reform. It is hoped that the importance attaching to the case of the Irish hunger-strikers in the public mind would not be overlooked, and that they would have no more non-Irish speaking figure in Cork.

He wished to say a word to himself (the Deputy Lord Mayor) before closing. He had not much on his mind in his dual responsibility, but he grieved greatly that he might be guided and protected in all his difficulties and dangers. God bless and defend the Irish Republic, where it is securely in its place among the nations.

Father Dominic adds the following footnote:—I took above down from the dictation of the Lord Mayor. At most him a great effort, and considerable time. It was dictated by phrases, with long pauses between. I urged him to give up the job, and said I would write. He said the least I could do after his confession was to keep it of respect and esteem was to give the message himself in full. The dictation is troubling him again very much, and to-day his sight is very much blurred. The Lord Mayor desires to say that he is very pleased that the attempt to fire the City Hall had proved abortive.

INCIDENT AT THE FORD WORKS.

Cork Correspondent telegraphs last night:—The banners of Cork City was suspended at noon yesterday for an hour while the workers attended Masses for Lord Mayor MacSwiney and the hunger-strikers in Cork. At the Ford Works in the morning notice was issued that any man who left work would incur dismissal. Most of the eleven hundred workers, however, left, but when they returned the flag was again suspended.

Work was not restarted. Mr. J. J. Walsh, M.P., went to the works and impressed on the men that they must subject themselves to discipline.

The manager of the works then addressed the men, and said that he would re-open the works, but not until Monday morning. He had previously intended to shut down entirely until he could employ a new staff.

Mr. Edward Grace, manager of Ford's, writing to the Press, says:—It is only on the guarantee that such indiscipline will not occur again that the firm agreed to take back the staff on Monday.

DRILLING IN DUBLIN MOUNTAINS.

ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF BOMBS AND AMMUNITION.

COURTS-MARTIAL SENTENCES.

The result of the District Courts-martial which assembled at Dublin on the 25th September for the trial of forty-three civilians, charged with contravening Order No. 17 of the Military Authority prohibiting assemblies within the County of Dublin, is as follows:—

Thomas Ryan, 52 Dominick-st, Dublin, who was also charged with having in his possession ammunition, was convicted on both charges, and sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for twelve months and £50 fine, or, in default of payment, to a further term of six months' imprisonment with hard labour.

Patrick Mackey, who was charged with possession of a bomb, was convicted on both charges, and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment with hard labour. The evidence showed that on the 10th September, 1920, a raiding patrol surprised a party of men, including all the accused, engaged in drilling in the Dublin Hills, about a quarter of an hour's walk from St. Columba's College. The other accused, with the exception of D. C. Parker, who was acquitted, were convicted of contravening the above-mentioned Order, and sentenced to terms of imprisonment. Their names are as follows:—

In each case, with the exception of Hugh Larkin, Kevin McGann, Frank Kinsella, Henry W. Sheridan, and John Grimes, hard labour is imposed.

Richard Tobin, James Butler, John Butler, John Campion, Jeremiah Campion, all of Clonmacnoise, and Michael Robinson, of Grane, were charged before a District Court-martial held at Cork on the 28th September, 1920, with riot and assault, and for assault with intent to kill. The evidence showed that on the 15th August, 1920, a team of the Rector of Clonmacnoise, Co. Kilkenny, was returning from church, he was held up by a party of men of the Rectory, regarding the Irish race. He was told that if was required to search him and his Rectory on the authority of the Irish Republic. They got hold of him and proceeded to search him. A severe struggle ensued. One of the assailants, Jeremiah or John Butler, drew a revolver, and, shouting "Hands up," fired a shot. Two bull dogs belonging to the witness appeared on the scene, and one of the men levelled a revolver at them, of the dogs. The witness, to save the dog, agreed to give up the shot gun. This he did. The party then left. All the accused made statements denying the charges.

John Campion and Jeremiah Campion were acquitted and released.

The other accused were convicted of riot and assault. John Butler was sentenced to imprisonment for two years, and Richard Tobin, James Butler, and Michael Robinson to imprisonment for eighteen months. Hard labour was imposed in all cases.

Patrick Reddin, of Lisdoonvarna, County Clare, was tried before a District Court-martial held at Limerick on 24th September, 1920, on offences against Regulation 42 A.A. of the R.O.I.R. The accused was represented by Mr. Hugh O'Flaherty, solicitor. According to the evidence for the prosecution, the accused entered into conversation with soldiers outside Keane's bakehouse at Lisdoonvarna, offering them one shilling's round of ammunition and £5 for a revolver.

The accused, who pleaded not guilty, was acquitted and released.

THE DUBLIN SHOOTINGS.

THE CASUALTIES IN TALBOT STREET.

The exciting events which occurred in Dublin on Thursday formed the chief topic of conversation throughout the city yesterday. Various were various rumours afloat, especially in regard to the Talbot street affair, which was more serious in its consequences than that which happened at Phibsborough last night. Mr. Winston Churchill said that a dark shadow would be cast across the prospects of reconstruction both at home and abroad by the bad news that a civil strife was now regarded as almost normal. I really feel a sense of bewilderment that this should have been allowed to take place, said the right hon. gentleman. When one thinks how patriotic the minors are, and how listless the gas they are, what good fellows they are, how bravely they fought in the war, and what a stalwart part they have played in so many of the difficult situations through which we have been passing, one is really astounded that they can allow themselves to drift and slide into the position that, against the advice of their leaders, in spite of the perfectly fair offer of the Government for an impartial inquiry, or for an increase of wages based upon an increase of production, they should cease the output of coal from the pits, and by that fact strike a blow at the prosperity and even the continuance of every industry in the United Kingdom, and another blow at every struggling population which is endeavouring to get its head above the waters after the war and the ruin of Europe (Cheers.) It is not as if we were dealing with a class of men who were not intelligent. We are dealing with a very intelligent class. I have often addressed audiences of miners, and I have met numbers of miners serving in the Scots Fusiliers, and I know that they are not men who only get to have the case fairly and squarely put before them, and to have it worked out for them, when they will look at the thing from the eyes of those who really seek the permanent well-being of the whole community, and the patriotic interests of the whole country. Somehow or other, that has not been done. Those who lead them, or try to lead them, have led them up to a certain point without having sufficient contact with their constituents to enable them to give them real guidance, and to establish that complete understanding which is necessary, and thus you get the spectacle of Mr. Smillie, having led them to a certain point, turning round and doing all he can to stop the evil which had got started, and being unable to restrain the torrent. (Cheers.) Well, we must hope for the best. Every day that this strike lasts will spread the circles of unemployment wider and wider throughout the land. Every day that it continues will make its effect felt upon prosperity and upon hundreds of thousands of humble homes, who have not so much as a margin to spare in these hard times. But every day that can be saved, every day that it can be curtailed, will arrest this evil, and the effort to bring about an understanding for the settlement of labour disputes in the mines must be continuous and unceasing. (Cheers.)

UNITY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

Their association, continued Mr. Churchill, was in fruitful and prosperous co-operation with the Coalition Government. They were not seeking to upon up doctrinal differences at this present time; they were trying to face the practical needs of the situation, and to afford a strong foundation for the Government of the country to deal with the extraordinary problems arising out of the convulsions of the war. There was great need for unity in national affairs. They really could not afford the luxury—it is a luxury—of party fighting for party fighting sake. No doubt, the day would come when a much quieter period would have been reached in the world, when there would be less violent spirits abroad, less furious feelings; when the wounds of war would have been healed, or, at any rate, the injuries would have greatly been reduced or forgotten; and then it might well be that strong doctrinal and party difference would advise which they would champion on the one side or the other, as events might dictate; but at present it would be most foolish and wrong for them to try to break up national unity in order to embark on party strife. (Cheers.) He should be ashamed to go there if he thought the Government of which he was a member had been guilty of a neglect of the principles for which the Liberal Party stood. They would have been glad, indeed, if Mr. Asquith—(cheers)—and his colleagues had been willing to share the burden. They took a different view, however, and the consequence which had followed had not been good either for the interests of the country as a whole or for the Liberal Party. "But," added Mr. Churchill, "I challenge anyone to show that the conduct of this Government has not been such as to give it a reputation throughout Europe of being a liberal and pacific Government." (Cheers.) There were Labour people who not only wanted his seat, but also his head. (Laughter.) "It is really very unkind of them," commented the right hon. gentleman, "but before you can impeach a Minister or a member of Parliament, the first thing is to get a majority in that Parliament, and then you are able to proceed. So they would be well advised to attack the seat first, and leave the other end—(laughter)—to be taken in a secondary and subsequent phase of the operation. (More laughter.) I shall be ready to defend myself at all points." (Cheers and laughter.)

Answering questions, Mr. Churchill said that the Government would certainly not do anything to keep up an artificial high level of prices. The Dutch Government had refused to surrender the catch of fish, which is crippling their transport, but the weather will come to their aid if they can hold out for a fortnight. Meanwhile, the easterly front they have defeated at Delejan, the Bolshevik aggressors, and have been driven back across the Askibara River. The Bolshevik force near Nakhitchevan has also sustained a repulse.

Reuter's Agency learns that the following despatch, dated October 5th, has been received in Armenian circles in London:—We have been obliged to evacuate Kaghisman and Sarikamish. The Turks are attacking on the right and on the district of Novo Selim, ten miles east of Kars, with the support of artillery, but they have been repulsed. Our troops are now retiring in the direction of Igdir. Volunteers are coming up, and the moral of the troops is excellent.

REPARATIONS PROBLEM.

Reuter's Agency understands that no reply has yet been sent by the British Government to the last French Note on the subject of reparations. It has, however, been carefully considered by the Cabinet, and an answer has been drafted, but not yet finally approved.

During the past week, says a Paris telegram, the Reparations Commission has dealt with two main questions—namely, the valuation of the damages, and the deliveries of coal to be effected by Germany under the Spa agreements. The Commission has requested the Governments concerned to submit, not later than November 1st, an estimate, as approximate as possible, of each of their damages as come under the first category of damages which affected most. Great Britain, maritime damages; France, damages to property, including mines, and the expenses incurred in the payment of pensions to war victims and their dependents. Regarding deliveries of coal, the Commission made a further provisional agreement with Germany concerning the advance of funds promised to Germany by the Spa Protocol, in consideration of her deliveries of coal. The German Government has fulfilled the terms of the Spa agreement by delivering, approximately, in the last two months, the quantities prescribed. The lengthy negotiations between the Reparations Commission and the German Government, with a view to settling the definitive form of the Bonds for twenty thousand million and forty thousand million gold marks prescribed in Paragraph 12, Annex II., Paragraph 8 of the Treaty, have terminated with the delivery of the Bonds in question, which were recently deposited at the headquarters of the Commission in Paris.

THE DUBLIN HOSPITALS' FETE.

The Fête on behalf of the Dublin hospitals will be opened to-day at two o'clock at Baggot bridge by Lord Powerscourt. The object of the Fête is to raise funds to assist the city hospitals out of their present financial difficulties. Owing to the season at which the hospitals are hampered in their beneficent work, a special effort is being made through the medium of the Fête to tide over their present embarrassing position, and obviate the necessity for the closing of some of them, perhaps, or closing their doors. This, if it should become necessary, would be an unfortunate result, for it would seriously affect the suffering poor, who have not the means to procure the independent advice at the hands of doctors at their homes. The Fête, which has been arranged on an elaborate scale, promises to be successful in effecting the object of its promoters. Its attractions include an Eighteenth Century Village, Fairy Glen, Café Chantant, Christy Minstrels, mountain sliding, Punch and Judy, hobby horses, outdoor amusements, bands, and a splendid ballroom, which will be under the management of Mrs. Leggett Byrne. Friday next will be a special carnival day for children. The carnival will be open to all children, and there will be a distribution of novelties. Mr. and Mrs. Leggett Byrne's pupils will hold a prominent place in this department of the Fête. The Café Chantant will be in charge of Mr. Alfred Seaver and Mr. Edward R. Symmons, who have secured the services of music hall and other artists.

MR. CHURCHILL AND A COAL STRIKE.

ITS EFFECT ON INDUSTRY.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

COAL CRISIS DOMINATES MARKETS. GUINNESS AND STEAM FIRM. TEXTILES, DUNLOPS, RAILS, AND OILS LOWER.

The week-end market closed under the added adverse influence of the notification of the coal miners to strike, and prices yesterday were consequently easier, on a renewal of slight sale pressure all over the Stock Exchange, while support was only obtainable even to a limited extent as a concession on fast quotations.

There were a few declines in Government Funds, etc. War Loan 5 p.c. fell ½ to 84½, Victory Bonds 1 to 74, and India 3½ p.c. ½ to 83. Consols remain at 45½, and War Loan 4 p.c. at 91. Dublin Corporation Stock fell 4 to 52, but the Stock was ineffectually offered at 53, the previous day.

Japan 4 p.c. Sterling Loan realised 57½. In the Bank market Hibernians finished ¼ better at 5, but Royals fell ¼ to 7. Bank Stock at 180 and Nationals at 152 show no change.

In Breweries, etc., dealing was confined to Guinness issues, which met with some support. The Ord. rose ¼ to 334, and the Pref. ¼ to 91.

In Steam, City of Dublin remains 114 to 120 nominally.

Marconis were weak, with the Ord. 2s. lower at 53s. 6d., 53s.

Home Rails were on offer. Great Southern and Western Ord. fell ¼ to 41¼, and Great Northern Debs. were offered at 57, or 1 under last price, but were not bid for.

In Trams Cork Electric Debs. fell 2 to 83.

Dublins were dull. Dunlop Rubber remains lower at 27s. 6d., but later 27s. 9d. was paid. Parent Tyre Ord. fell 2d. to 20s.

Among Manufacturing shares Dyers fell 2s. 6d. to 40s. 6d., Coats' 8s. Pref. 6d. to 10s., and Cottons 1s. to 36s., but Coats' Ord. closed 3d. better at 50s., 50s. 3d. Kapp and Peterson Pref. fell 10d. to 16s. 6d., and Vickers 4d. to 22s.

In Miscellaneous securities Clarence Hotel Pref. realised 10s., Hibernian Fire 4s. 3d., and Irish Times 1st Pref. 6s.

BELFAST STOCK EXCHANGE.

DUNLOPS AND OILS WEAK.

Our Belfast Correspondent writes:—The Belfast market closed the week with a dull tone generally, and the market generally was over-shadowed by the threatened miners' strike. Dunlops, which partially recovered early in the week, have again fallen off, and the Oil Share leaders are showing signs of weakness, possibly in view of general uncertainty in trade. Gilt-edged securities and high-class redeemable stocks of public Boards are in demand, and the industrial section is comparatively neglected. War Loan 5 p.c. Inscribed declined ½ to 84½, but the Registered maintained the former price at 84½. In the Banking section London City and Midland improved ¼ to 64, and London Co. Westminster was slightly lower at 13¾ for a small line. Northern Bank, 4 p.c. Pref. 45 was wanted. Railway Stocks show some demand, and the following are wanted:—Great Northern Railway, Caledonian Railway, Midland 2½ Pens. Pref. and 2½ p.c. Debs., Belfast and Co. Down Ord. and 4 p.c. Pref. Debs., Belfast Corporation 3½ p.c. 1949 Stock repeated 56½, the 5 p.c. 1956 issue was unchanged at 64. Belfast Harbour Commissioners and Belfast Water Commissioners Debs. are wanted. In the Textile section, Brookfield Linen Co. Ord. remained at 20, and the Pref. are wanted, also Coats Ord. and York Street Flax Spinning Co. 4½ p.c. Deb., while Belfast Ropework Co. issues are offered. There is a demand for Bloomfield Bakery Ord., 5/6 Rathmines Distillery Ord. were released to 3/. Wm. Cowan Ord. are wanted, while Distillers' Finance Corporation, Irish Distillery, and J. J. M'Nabb's Shares find offered. Ainsria Iron Ore Co. A are in demand. In the Brewery section J. Bulloch Pref. are wanted, also Robinson and Cleaver Pref. Tobacco Shares are steady, and there is a demand for British-American Tobacco Ord. and Leahy Ord. were offered at 6 to 6¼, without buyers. Sawers Ord. repeated 25/-. Dunlop Rubber further declined to 27/9. Lever Bros. 7% Pref. 90/- are wanted. White, Tomkins and Courage Ord. are offered. There is a demand for Warden Ord. Mexican Eagles lower at 11/-.

STOCKS CLOSE STEADY.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Stock markets showed decided dulness at the commencement of business. Government securities were marked down, and other high-class Stocks receded. Yet as the day wore on there was a tendency to take a more cheerful view of the future, and, helped by the absence of forced sales, a rally in prices was established. The Funding Loan, as well as Victory Bonds, gave way slightly, but other Government securities kept up well. Corporation and County Stocks were, for the most part, rather dull, and among Colonial Government issues Queenslanders were depressed. Home Rails, following an early decline, developed a better tendency later in sympathy with other sections of the House, though the majority of movements were adverse on balance. Canadian Pacifics and American Railroad issues were generally higher owing to the movement in the exchange, but Foreign Rails were depressed, particularly Leopoldina, which fell sharply on the offering of a small amount of Stock. Foreign Bonds reflected Continental operations and were mostly easier. Exceptionally, Japanese Bonds advanced on the American exchange.

LONDON STOCKS UNCERTAIN.

PRICE CHANGES ADVERSE.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the Stock Exchange yesterday the tone was dull and uncertain. The markets opened quietly, but later prices steadied, and even rallied in some cases. Trading was, however, very limited, and is expected to continue restricted in view of the overshadowing trouble in the coal situation. There was, however, a general expression of opinion round the House that open rupture may yet be avoided, and various ways are being suggested whereby negotiations could go on without a complete stoppage of work. It is taken for granted that if the miners do come out they will be joined in a short time by other parties to the Triple Alliance. During the afternoon weakness developed, and most of the changes were adverse. The bi-p.c. War Loan was first quoted at 84¾, rallied to 84¾, and left off at 84⅝. Consols were weak at 45¾, as were Funding Loan at 67¾ and Victory Bonds at 73¾. Corporation Stocks were generally at a standstill, but Queensland Loans were 1 to 2 down.

FOREIGN BONDS. QUIET.—In Foreign Bonds support was given to Japanese 4½ p.c., which rose to 58⅞, and the Seconds, 4s, and Firsts Bonds were dull, while Mexican Irrigations were weak. Buenos Ayres Bonds gave way, but Argentine Fours were better. Peru Ord. fell back to 52, and the Pref. were dull at 27. French Bonds were steady at 48¾ and 38¾ respectively. Cuban Ports were better at 29.

Changes—Rise: Japan 4½ p.c., 1 to 107. Fall: French Loan, ½ to 48.

HOME RAILS LOWER.—Home Rails were generally inactive, and the changes recorded were mostly downwards. Great Northern Pref., however, rose ½ to 44; Caledonian Def. fell ½, and Taff Vale-1, Metropolitans showed a fall of ½ to 21, and Districts a similar fall at 18½. Underground Electric fell ¼.

Changes—Rise: Great Northern Pref., ½ to 44. Falls: Caledonian, ½ to 84; Metropolitan, ½ to 21; District, ½ to 18½; Taff Vale, 1 to 42.

CANADIANS A BETTER AND MEXICANS QUIET.—"Canucks" rose a point to 180. Grand Trunks were unchanged. The talk now is that the Pacific dividend will be announced on Monday or Tuesday. B.A. Pacific fell ¼ at 82½, Bahia Blancas fell ¼ at 82½. San Paulo was a point higher at 133 x.d., but United of Havana fell ¼ at 78.

Changes—Rise: Canadian Pacific, 1 to 180; San Paulo, 1 to 133. Falls: Mexican Nat. 2nd Pref., ½ to 64; Bahia Blanca Guar. Stk., ½ to 82; B.A. Pacific, ½ to 83½; United Havana, ½ to 78.

INDUSTRIALS STAND THE STRAIN WELL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The complacency of the public in these days is amazing. Before the war the sensitiveness of the Stock Exchange to outside events was a matter of common knowledge. A slight difference of opinion between foreign Government representatives, whom no one had ever heard of, was immediately reflected in a fall in Consols and disturbances in the gilt-edged market. Strained relations between obscure Powers in the Baykana shook the House to its foundations, while investors went about with long faces and sold stock. To-day the temper of investors is of more philosophic stuff, and a crisis, such as that with which we are now faced in the coal trade, has very small effect. Whilst there was no undue pressure to realise in the Home Rail department, shares were marked down in a number of cases. Stock was changing hands to some extent, but precautionary measures also accounted for the shrinkages in values. Vickers dropped to the new low record of 22s., and Armstrongs were offered down to 21s. Burnt Kean were freely offered, closing 9d. lower at 41s. 3d., and losses of 6d. were also registered in Ebbw Vale at 24s. 6d., Cargo Fleet at 19s., and Cammell Laird also at 17s. Exceptionally, Brunner Mond improved on bear covering to 51s. 6d., a recovery of 8d. on the day. In the Coal group prices were unchanged, except in the case of Powell Duffryn, which eased ¼ to 2½. Support was lacking in the Textile section, where, however, Courtaulds, after showing initial weakness, partially recovered towards the end of the day. The shares opened as 6½, went to 6¾, and finally closed at 6½, a loss of ¼ on balance. Spinners weakened to 2½, and Amalgamated Cottons came on offer, finishing 1s. down with 1s. 6d. wanted. Sundry Cottons eased ¼ to 1¼. Calicos were 3d. lower at 21s., and Dyers lost ¼ at 14¾. Stores were easier in places, Barkers further declining 6d. to 52s. Among Leathers Sangers, trading ¼ at 2⅝, and Pref. changing hands at 9½, or ¼ down. Anglo-Chilian Nitrates were ¼ easier at 14½, but the dealings were unimportant. Rubbers were also restricted, no change appearing at 21s. On the other hand, among lighter issues San Sebastian fell 1s. to 8s. Van Den Berghs are now quoted ex-dividend, and are invariably affected. Oils were irregular, but closed slightly above the worst. The other favourites in this particular market all gave way to a slight extent, though it cannot be said to have been the result of offers. Another fall took place in Burma Corporation.

OIL SHARE MARKET QUIET AND STEADY.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

In the Stock Exchange yesterday the Oil share market continued to be influenced, with others, by the Capital Issues Committee. Business was of a quiet character, but in the circumstances this department preserved a very steady tone. When it became evident that there was no pressure to sell a steady improvement set in. Transactions on Paris account were of little importance, that centre confining its attention to Mexican Eagles, of which it bought and sold in a way throughout the day. At the close the prices of the leaders were looking firm, but in the street a slightly easier tendency developed, and on balance very little change had to be recorded. Mexican Eagles started at 11¼, rose to 11⅝, eased to 11⅛, rallied to 11¼, and closed unchanged on the day at 11⅛, while Shells from 6¼ advanced to 7-, and then fell back at the end to the opening, 6¾. As regards other leading shares, Royal Dutch were a firmer market than of late, an advance of a point being registered at the close. Burmah-Kerry rose almost 5 on the day. Slightly lower prices were fairly general among the more speculative favourites. Trinidad issues remained quiet, shrinkages occurring in Consolidated Fields and Lake Trinidad. Anglo-Egyptian "B" continued to meet with buyers, and maintained their recent improvement, and Assam Oils were inquired for and strengthened. The rest of the list presented nothing of special interest. Closing prices:—

Macaura, Esq., to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, on THURSDAY, 21st OCTOBER, 1920, at our SALEROOMS, No. 39 WESTMORELAND STREET, at 1.30 o'clock, the splendid demesne lands of Killymoon, together with the magnificent residence, extensive out-offices, valuable water rights (6 workmen's cottages, mill building, and also a second mill building, with water wheel (as now working), together with complete electric lighting plant, saw benches, threshing machine, etc., etc., as running; also mineral rights of the valuable minerals on the estate; sporting rights, etc., etc., all held

FREE OF RENT FOR EVER.

KILLYMOON CASTLE.

KILLYMOON DEMESNE CONSISTS OF 406 ACRES, and contains some of the best land in the North of Ireland, the soil being an exceptionally deep rich alluvial loam deposit. The best crops of flax, corn, potatoes, etc., in the North are produced on these rich lands, which are also deservedly noted for their fattening qualities. All sections are well watered, thoroughly sheltered and well fenced. Numerous shelter-belts for cattle. The lands are surrounded by solid stone wall, 8 to 10 feet high. Walled-in garden of 2 acres, fully stocked with fruit trees of all kinds. Extensive conservatories, containing choice grapes, peaches, etc. Coal is received for the cottages.

The residence is known as Killymoon Castle—an exquisite little Castle, built completely of dressed stone in the Castellated style, and was designed by Nash, the eminent architect, who aimed at (and succeeded in attaining) compact and graceful nestness, inside and out.

Experts pronounce the residence one of the most beautiful and compact in Ireland. Automatic water supply to residence, which is also fully lighted by electricity, as is the farmyard, out-offices, etc. Electrical energy is generated by a dynamo driven by water-power. Never-failing supply of free water-power, which averages 150 h.p. Water-wheel also drives saw-bench for firewood cutting, rack-bench, threshing machine, chaff-cutter, etc., or any additional farming machinery required. No fuel need be purchased, as the supply of excellent firewood is unlimited.

Private golf course (5 holes) on the estate. Two excellent trout and salmon rivers—the Ballinderry and the Killymoon—run through the demesne, which is half a mile from the important town of Cookstown. Great Northern and Midland Railway Stations within three-quarter mile of residence.

The Auctioneers have given special attention to the sale of these lands. Rarely, indeed, is such a chance available to procure such an ideally-situated parcel of good farming land, surrounded by a high stone wall, with fine splendid residence and out-offices, perfectly lighted and watered, and complete down to the smallest detail.

If desired, the unharnessed water-power on the estate can be utilised to furnish power for a large commercial undertaking of the district (4,000 population). Attention is also directed to the unlimited supply of pure limestone, and red sandstone, with a considerable quantity of excellent peat, limestone, gravel pits, etc.
